THE RESULT.

One of the first startling results of the recent "Your Share is Fair" campaign in Rock County, as to whether the county will be able to raise its quota for the present Red Cross drive or not. Every community the nation over is on tip toe to make as good a showing as possible, but here in Rock County there is a perfect equilibrium and no excitement.

Why? Why, because the money is already raised and the quota is met. The fund raised by the "Your Share is Fair" campaign. The check can be forwarded at any time and there is no fuss and worry and Rock County has paid its share.

Not only that, but the amount raised has been evenly divided and every individual on the list of "Your Share is Fair" has done his own individual part and in consequence there is no fuss and worry.

Is not this a far better way than have committees out every few weeks for this or that fund that the government authorizes assistance for? To have it all in one lump sum, all collected and paid in and have to draw one check for the total amount? No one can feel they are neglected, no one can say they have not been asked to contribute for "Your Share is Fair." It is a general fund for war purposes, all raised and collected.

FUTURE YEARS.

In future years citizens of Janesville can look back to the present period and wonder how their ancestors were able to compass so much genuine, constructive work with so many diverse interests at work. Yet when it is all said and done it is because Janesville always had something to offer and the Janesville business and professional men were always ready to put their shoulders to the wheel when need be, and give of their time and money for the general good of the community.

Janesville has been passing through a chaotic stage for many years past, but the organization of the new Chamber of Commerce, in which every class of citizens have a voice and a vote, is going to do much to bring order out of chaos, and help the citizens to find themselves.

Travel where you may, by land or sea, on highways and railroads, once a resident of Janesville, your thoughts will always turn toward it and you will be a far greater booster away from home than perhaps you are right here among your own.

Speaking of boosters, why not join that mighty army now for the rest of your residence in the city that has given you a home and a position? Why not forget past petty differences of opinion and start in and be as loyal as you can be with no restrictions whatsoever? Do a booster and forget that anything in the past has arisen to rattle your sensibilities. These are war times and we must all pull together, and the Chamber of Commerce gives the opportunity.

READY AND WAITING.

The United States has been at war a little over a year and during that period, despite all sorts of obstacles, this nation has performed wonders in creating a wonderful military force and having the nucleus to a far greater one. The civilized world has seen equipped and drilled soldiers. One would hate to estimate the number of sailors that are being turned out, but boys from the pebbles are now sailing the high seas with as much glee and experience as those born within small of salt water.

The United States has transported more men to the fighting line within the past few months than England did in a like period and the United States is three thousand miles away, and England but thirty. Uncle Sam is ready and waiting and when his armed forces finally reaches France in a sufficient force to be of any consequence, they will give a good account of themselves and be ready to meet any foe that they confront.

Meanwhile the preparation goes on here at home and each day sees some of the young men of this community, and every community, slip away to answer the call to the colors, some by way of the selective draft, and others through the volunteer channel.

They are going to prepare themselves for the great "drive" in which the soldiers of the United States will make this world safe for all time against militarism and "Hunism," a world that will not permit the warlike ambitions of any one man or political faction to dominate. The United States is ready and waiting and the German emperor knows it and fears the result.

SELECTMEN.

Monday marks the departure of another detachment of the selected draft men from Janesville. True, they go only to Camp Grant, but this is but a step on the way across. Boys who went but a few short weeks ago are now on their way to the fighting zone or have landed. This war is leveller of all classes. The man counts—money counts no figure. The recruit is judged by his fellow men and his officers by his capability, and many a poor youth in home life will receive his corporal's chevrons long before his bunk mate from millionaire's row, gets away from the police squad for drunkenness in military discipline. Privates are not played in the army these days and every "tub stands on its bottom." However, our boys go Monday, and they should be given a rousing send-off. The National Service Welfare association will look after the musical and military end of the demonstration and some of the details of the departure, but the best wishes of the citizens will count for more than anything else. Be there to give the boys the proper send-off.

Thursday next is Memorial day. It has more of its usual significance this year and its commemoration should be made national and observed by patriotic gatherings. Janesville plans a proper observance of the day and all should take part in the exercises.

It looks as though the German leaders were figuring it all out in the brief sentence, "This world, the next, and then the fireworks." Shirkers and slackers should be made to study German for they will need the language to make themselves understood when they reach the "fireworks" stage. No other language will be understood or spoken. Think of the inconvenience if you can not make your wants known?

The state political situation is becoming more muddled than ever, but wait until a few good summer rains come and wash the mud out of the streams and then one can explore the bottom and look to see what kind of fish are outing the bait off the hooks.

Fishing worms may turn many a man from his "war garden" to the river, but in this day and age it takes more than worms to be enticing to the fish. Pork rind or some expensive substitute are needed. Stick to the garden.

This talk about combining the various fire departments is a wise one. It has long been contemplated and should be an accomplished fact. It is one of the matters the new council should take in the way of economy and efficiency in these war days.

Fat stock and fat hogs, with good, woolly sheep, are needed. Stock men should not be discouraged over a slump in milk prices for it is one of the essentials of life, but all interests should work together for the best good of the community.

ON THE SPUR of the MOMENT

—ROY E. MULLISON—

The London "Times" accepts Japan's statement that she will stand by the allies to the end. The Japs are not quite barmy. They can see which way the cat is going to jump.

A consular report says weather conditions in the Canary Islands are so fine that three or four crops are produced every year.

Judging by the number of canaries in their apartment house, three or four crops a year are plenty.

Who ever thought it would come to this, where we are the world's champion throwers of the bull, too?

Spanish baseball team, with seven bullfighters in it, but an American nine at Washington by a score of 22 to 12.

The Germans are now strafing Columbus. He discovered America.

So far as we are concerned, we do not know how he could have missed it if he was sailing this way.

One well known commercial traveler says the only way he can get any orders is to have his wife travel with him. She gives him some every day.

Misprint in a program reads: "The world's greatest vaudeville circuit, with attractions in every large city."

Many a truth is spoken in a misprint at that.

Speaking of play titles and war, we often wonder what will happen when "The Man Who Came Back" meets "The Man Who Stayed at Home."

Secretary McAdoo says: "Half-soled shoes and half-soled breeches are badges of honor. I wear them, and gladly recommend them."

Wonder if he thinks he has got any patent on that?

One thing the war has done: It has increased our knowledge of geography quite a bit. To think we have struggled along without Mesopotamia and Bessarabia all these years!

Food will win the war. Keep the home soil turning.

Austrian authorities are getting rid of the Bourbon influence. That's what the Kentucky authorities did some time ago.

In the new win-the-war gowns the material is so skimpy that, as Al Jolson might say, it is going to be tough on the blind boys to sell lead pencils.

Now that everybody is thinking up To-hell-with-the-helmet.

Out at Installment Villa, Beechnut, Long Island, where we try to get, they now deliver groceries in capsules.

Note by an eastern paper that at a certain corporation headquarters the other day there was a meeting of the board of detractors.

"Those boys, the detractors, are quite numerous nowadays, too."

It will be safe time before "Hindenburg's Circus" plays an engagement in Paris.

When Paris sees a circus, it wants to see a good one, like Barnum's or Ringling's.

Who's Who in Today's News

SIR ROGER KEYES.

Folk on this side of the ocean have got into the habit of calling him the English Hobson.

But Vice Admiral Sir Roger Keyes, the hero of Ostend and Zeebrugge, is a fan of more achievements than our hero—and that is no reflection on Richmond Pearson, the much kissed American naval hero.

John Brownlow Keyes he was when he was the midshipman winning attention in one of England's petty wars in Africa. During the Boer rebellion he was a lieutenant. He won the rank of commander when he took a couple of destroyers up the Yangtze at the Yangtze.

boarded and captured four Chinese torpedo boats, landed with about a dozen men, overcame the garrison in a threatening fort, blew up the fort and went back down the river with his prizes and no casualties.

Just before the present war he was a submarine and torpedo officer and his daring and executive ability gave him the rank of commander. In August 1914, it was Keyes' command of submarines which decoyed part of the German fleet out to its destruction when the British were anxious to create a diversion while their transports brought to France the thousands of men needed in the west. The seaplane attack on Cuxhaven on Christmas day that year found Keyes among the leaders and he later went to the Dardanelles.

As rear admiral in 1917 he was made admiral director of plans, but his executive ability had little play there and he was soon made the admiral at Dover.

For his history-making feat at Ostend and Zeebrugge he was made a member of the Second Class or Knight Commander of the Most Honorable Order of the Bath (military division). Sir Roger is only 46 years old. But his actions belie even that age. He asks of no man under him any task which he himself would not willingly do.

HE KNEW
Bridegroom—Just look at my young wife! Doesn't she look queerly?
Friend—Yes, she does, but wait until she begins to rule.

BIG FUN WILL BEGIN AT HIGH SCHOOL AT SEVEN THIS EVENING

County Fair Attractions Will be Open to the Public for Two Hours.—
Proceeds to Go to Belgian Relief.

Everything is ready for the big "County Fair" to be given at the high school this evening by the students. The fair will start at seven o'clock and will continue until nine o'clock. "Two solid hours of excitement" are promised by the young people participating in the affair and that the attendance is going to be large is undoubted.

All of the proceeds will be given to "The Little Belles," an organization in Belgium which is furnishing much needed relief to the starving Belgian children. Mme. Van Beesbruck, a Belgian subject, who is now living at the Lake Geneva, and who spoke at the last meeting of the Twilight club on conditions in her stricken country, will be present this evening to sell her Belgian pottery. Her little daughter will wear her Belgian costume and will sing a French song.

The affair is open to the public and it is sincerely hoped that the people will respond so that a substantial sum of money may be turned over to further this great work. The general admission to the fair is 5 cents. Admission to the different rooms where the various attractions will be staged is from one to five cents for children and five cents each for adults.

Among the attractions are: fortune tellers, a Philippine village, magicians, wireless station, horticultural and agricultural booth, a jazz band, Mrs. Jarley's wax works, patriotic tableaux, picture booth, lemonade, ice cream sandwiches and cones.

A platoon of the high school cadets under the command of First Lieutenant Persons and First Sergeant Gage will perform interior guard duty, maintaining order throughout the building.

Foundry Workers Strike.
Eau Claire, Wis., May 24.—All foundry workers, numbering sixty men, of Phoenix Manufacturing company in this city, walked out Thursday after the company's refusal to meet their wage demands. This is the first strike in the history of the company for a history of nearly forty years. The strike, if continued, will tie up war work.

Roosevelt to Milwaukee.
Milwaukee, Wis., May 24.—Theodore Roosevelt will be a guest of the City Club when he visits Milwaukee on May 28th. He will make a public address at a local theater at noon on Tuesday and will attend a luncheon at the club's quarters.

JUDGE RANDALL WILL RUN AGAINST COOPER IN COMING ELECTION

Kenosha Man Selected at Convention
Yesterday to Oppose Henry Allen
Cooper for Congressman

Stated as a 100 per cent American, Judge Clifford E. Randall of Kenosha was named on Thursday as the choice of a conference of First District Republicans for the seat in congress now occupied by Henry Allen Cooper, Racine. Lengthy resolutions were adopted criticizing the attitude of the present congressman toward war measures and pledging support to the candidate recommended by the conferees.

About fifty republicans from Rock Jansville were represented by fifteen delegates. The convention was anything but a love feast. For a time it looked very much as if there would be a deadlock and that a choice would not be made. Each county in the district stood firmly with their respective candidate until the ninth ballot when there was a public show of hands. Judge Randall was nominated.

The convention was called by representative republicans of Racine, Waukesha, Rock and Walworth counties, comprising the First Congressional district, it being charged that Congressman Cooper has not shown the right spirit on the war question, and that he does not voice the spirit of the patriotic men and women of this district.

The convention adopted resolutions, declaring that Congressman Cooper should be retired and a man elected to succeed him, who would better represent the loyalty of the residents of the district. George L. Harrington of Elkhorn, was elected chairman of the convention, and Fred Phelps of Waukesha, secretary. A permanent campaign committee, consisting of M. W. Evans, Waukesha; A. L. Drury, Kenosha; J. J. Phoenix, Walworth; J. F. Sugden, Racine and George Blanchard, Beloit, was appointed. It was agreed that each of the five counties should be entitled to forty votes in the convention.

Representative Candidates.
The following candidates were placed in nomination for representative: Walter S. Goodland, Racine; Clifford E. Randall, Kenosha; George Worthington, Elkhorn; L. C. Whitte, Edgerton; Alex Matheson of Janesville; and Judge David W. Agnew, Waukesha.

Nine formal ballots were necessary to choose the man. Each county of the five in the district was allowed forty votes. The actual attendance

News Notes from Movieland

—BY DAISY DEAN—

The phrase "it happens in the movies," is certainly true in the case of Miss Josie Sedgwick, one of Triangle's stars. Miss Sedgwick entered the cinema world little more than a year ago and is now one of the star leading women at the Triangle studios.

"I think it must run in the family," said Miss Sedgwick in speaking about her unusually sudden success. "My mother and father are in the theatrical profession and my sister and brother also. I went on the stage with mother and father when I was about three years old."

According to that Miss Sedgwick has been acting for eighteen years, for she celebrated her twenty-first birthday last month. She has never appeared on any celluloid save Triangle and her first appearance was in "Ashes of Hope."

She is but five feet five and a half inches tall and weighs one hundred and thirty-three pounds. "And my hair is blond—not red," she insists.

Among her accomplishments and recreations she lists riding, swimming, motorboating, hunting, playing and singing. And she makes no apologies for the fact that she much prefers acting for the camera to baking in the kitchen. She does, however, admit that she likes to work in her garden and her rose garden is one of the sights of Hollywood, where she lives with her family.

MISS KENNEDY A WIDOW NEXT
Having been three times a bride in Goldwyn Pictures during as many months, Madge Kennedy leaps to the other extreme in her newest production, "The Fair Pretender," in which she is a full-fledged widow. The adventures following her self-styled widowhood are no less exciting and complicated than those in her plays when her adventures began after the marriage ceremony. Miss Kennedy declares that she feels she must next be a divorcee in order to complete the cycle of mimic love affairs.

Did you know that the fortieth anniversary of the first taking of moving pictures occurred on May 18? Edward Muybridge, a photographer, is credited with making the picture on the Leland Stanford race track at of delegates was 248. On the informal ballot Goodland received forty-three votes, George Harrington of Elkhorn, forty-three; Alexander Matheson of Janesville, twenty; Judge Agnew of Waukesha, forty; L. C. Whitte of Edgerton, seventeen. Harrington withdrew on the fifth formal ballot, although it was believed he could have been nominated if he chose to stay in the race.

FAMOUS LIONESS DEAD

Ethel, known to every motion picture fan as the greatest lioness in the world, is dead. She was born four years ago at University City and has since appeared in several of their greatest pictures. Her most notable achievement was "The Lion's Claw." Her funeral was unique. Chari, the Universal elephant, being the only pallbearer.

Lawrence C. Whitte, Edgerton, speaker of the assembly and Editor W. S. Goodland of the Racine Times-Call, divided most of the votes not given to Judge Randall with party of Waukesha county supporting Judge D. W. Agnew, Waukesha.

On the eighth ballot Randall received Kenosha's forty votes and twenty-three from Waukesha. Racine gave Goodland forty and he received twenty more than a majority. The vote was made unanimous.

Racine county started the break on the ninth ballot, throwing her forty votes to Randall. With six from Rock, six from Walworth, twenty-nine from Waukesha and his home county's forty, the total reached 121—more than a majority. The vote was made unanimous.

Judge Randall responded to calls for a speech. He accepted the honor and thanked the conferees. "I am a native of Wisconsin, born forty-two years ago in Troy, Walworth county. He has been judge of the Municipal court of Kenosha, in which city he now practices law. Friends of Congressman Cooper declared Thursday night that they were confident he would be a candidate and that he would make an announcement in a few days.

You Get What You Pay For

IN the majority of cases, American shrewdness is proof against the lure of such inviting phrases as "ground floor" and "special discount."

A very proper suspicion attaches to the man who uses such terms, for the public has well learned that it gets what it pays for!

But we Goodyear Service Station Dealers find that in the tire business certain fallacies prevail that are discredited everywhere else.

Chief among these fallacies is the belief in certain quarters that it pays to buy a "special discount" tire.

Let us say here and now, that when a dealer offers you a "special discount" to get you to buy a tire, you may fairly be sure that he is doing one of two things.

Either he is offering a tire on which he, himself, gets a special discount from its maker; or he is withholding from you the helpful service so necessary to get the maximum mileage from that tire.

In the one case the tire's quality is lowered at the source by compromised manufacture; in the other its capacity for service is handicapped by neglect.

Remember that only the conscientious dealer who gets his fair margin can afford to sell you a quality tire backed by the kind of service which will insure its long life and your satisfaction.

This sign identifies the Goodyear Service Station Dealer.

Watch me step! What's the use? I go along right and my feet hurt. I use "Gets-It," the painless, of the corn-remover. I tried other ways, but I was blue.

She hung the door open hastily. The signs of the tears had not been obliterated, and her face was drawn and old. Straightway she put her hand on his arm and searched his face inquiringly. "What did the gals say to you?" she whispered. "Abe, yew made a mistake when yew picked out Bi—"

"Poor little mother!" he interrupted. "Poor little mother!" a world of remembrance pity in his tone. "So yew been jealous of yer old man?"

Angeline, astonished and indignant, withdrew her hand sharply, demanding to know if he had lost his senses; but the blinded old gentleman slipped his arm around her and, bending, brushed his lips against her cheek. "Thar, thar," he murmured soothingly, "I didn't mean no harm. I can't help it if all the gals git stuck on me!"

Before Angy could make any reply, Blossy called to the couple softly but insistently from the foot of the stairs; and Angy, wrenching herself free, hastened down the steps, for once in her life glad to get away from Abe. He lost no time in following. No matter where Angy went, he would follow until all was well between her and him again.

But what was this? At the landing, Angy halted and so did Abe, for in the center of the sisters stood Blossy with her Sunday bonnet perched on her silver-gold hair and her white India shawl over her shoulders, and beside

NERVOUSNESS ON THE DECLINE
Doctors Encouraged. They Hold Out Hope for All
"Nothing wrong but my nerves." We hear it at home, at work and everywhere. Certainly, nervousness is a disease. A man or woman might better have a broken leg than a shattered, run down nervous system. Overwork and anxiety drain the nerve cells and centers of all their strength and vitality, then you get your sleepless nights, poor blood, nervousness, worry and fear that goes with a worn-out, broken-down nervous system. The better doctors of today know just what to do in cases of this kind. They know that a few weeks' use of Phosphated Iron really builds up the system and feeds the phosphorus-hungry nerve centers. Phosphated Iron certainly does take hold. The way the majority of patients come back is remarkable. You can almost see their nerves grow steady, strong and peaceful. What a change in appearance, too. The cheeks become filled out and flushed with the healthy ruddy glow that only pure, red, invigorated blood can give. Their step has the spring and swing of youth and their whole system seems to be alive with energy and good spirits. Mr. Nervous Man or Woman, Phosphated Iron will do all this for you if you will give it a chance. Do not drug around, all in and half dead another day when help is so near. Get busy! and be a live one once again. To insure doctors' and their patients' getting the genuine Phosphated Iron we have put in capsules only, so do not allow dealers to give you pills or tablets. Insist on capsules.—Smith Drug Co., and leading druggists everywhere.

No One Moved to See Them Off.
Blossy stood Capt. Samuel Darby with a countenance exceedingly radiant, his hand clasped fast in that of the aged beauty. "Oh, hurry, Sister Angy and Brother Abe!" called Blossy. "We were waiting for you, and I've got some news for all my friends." She waited smilingly for them to join the others; then with a gesture which included every member of the household, she proceeded: "The pink tea, I want you all to know, had a double significance, and first, of course, it was to celebrate the anniversary of Brother Abe's sojourn with us; but next it was my farewell to the home." Here Blossy gurgled and gave the man at her right so coy a glance that Samuel's face flamed red, and he hung his head lower to one side than usual, like a little kid that had been caught stealing apples. "I left the tea a trifle early—you must forgive me, Brother Abe, but I heard the train whistle." Abe stood beside Angeline, rooted in astonishment, while Blossy continued to address him directly. "You gave Samuel so many good recommendations, dear brother, that when the time approached for his June visit, I felt that I simply could not let him miss it as he did in December. Last year, on the day you entered, he was here through no desire of mine. Today he is here at my request. My friends, again she included the entire home in her glance, "we'll come back a little later to say good-by. Now, we're on the way to the minister's."

The pair, Samuel tongue-tied and bewildered by the joy of his finally won success, moved toward the door. On the threshold of the home Blossy turned and waved farewell to the companions of her widowhood, while Samuel, bowed in a dazed fashion, his face still red as it was blissful. Then quickly the two passed out upon the porch. No one moved to see them off. Abe looked everywhere yet nowhere at all. Not a word was spoken even when the carriage was heard rolling down the drive; but the sound of the wheels seemed to arouse Angy from her stupor of amazement; and presently Abraham became conscious of a touch—a touch sympathetic, tender and true—a touch all-understanding—the touch of Angy's hand within his own.

CHAPTER X.
The Turn of the Tide.
From time immemorial the history of the popular hero has ever been the same. To king and patriot, to the favorite girl at school and the small boy who is leader of the "gang," to politician, to preacher, to actor and author, comes first worship then eclipse. The great Napoleon did not escape this common fate; and the public idol who was kissed only yesterday for his gallant deeds is scorned today for having permitted the kissing. Oh, caprice of the human heart! Oh, cry of the race for the unaccounted!

From that first anniversary of his entrance into the home, Abraham felt his popularity decrease—in fact more than decrease. He saw the weather-vane go square about, and where he had known for three hundred and sixty-six days the gentle, balmy feel of the southwest zephyr, he found himself standing of a sudden in a cold, bleak northeast wind. The change bewildered the old man, and reacted on his disposition. As he had blossomed in the sunshine, so now he began to droop in the shade. Feeling that he was suspected and criticized, he began to grow suspicious and fault-finding himself. His old notion that he had no right to take a woman's place in the institution came back to his brain, and he would brood over it for hours at a time, sitting out on the porch with his pipe and Angy.

The old wife grieved to think that father was growing old and beginning to show his years. She made him some tansy tea, but neither her persuasions nor those of the whole household could induce him to take it. He had never liked "doctoring" anyway, although he had submitted to it more or less during the past year in unbecoming subservience to his desire to increase his popularity; but now he fancied that where once he had been served as a king by all these female attendants, he was simply being "pestered" as a punishment for his past behavior with Blossy. Ah, with its surprising ending that had been a humiliating affair; and he felt too that he would be long in forgiving Mrs. Darby for not having confided to him her actual intentions. Now he was afraid to be decently courteous to one of the sisters for fear that they might accuse him of light dalliance again; and he scarcely ever addressed the new member who came to take Blossy's little room, for he had been out to the quick by her look of astonishment when she was told that he belonged there.

In his mental ferment the old man began to nag at Angy. Sad though it is to confess of a hero honestly loved, Abraham had nagged a little at his married life when things went wrong. And Angeline, fretted and nervous; herself worried almost sick over father's condition, was guilty once in a while out of the depths of her anxiety of nagging back again. So do we hurt those whom we love best as we would and could hurt no other.

"I told yer I never could stand it here amongst all these datted women-folks," Abe would declare. "It's all your fault that I didn't go to the poor-house in peace."

"I notice yew didn't raise no objections until yew'd lived here a year," Angy would retort; but ignoring this remark, he would go on:

"It's 'Brother Abe' this an' 'Brother Abe' that, as if I had thirty wives a-pesterin' me instead of one. I can't kill a fly but it's 'Brother Abe, lemme bury him fer yew.' Do yer all think I be a baby?" demanded the old gentleman with glaring eye. "I guess I be able to do somethin' fer myself once in a while, I ain't so old as some folks might think," he continued with superb inconsistency. "I be a mere child compared with that air plagued Nancy Smith."

It took very little to exhaust Angy's ability for this style of repartee, and she would rejoin with tender but mistaken efforts to soothe and comfort him:

"Thar, thar, father! Don't git excited now. Seems ter me yew're a little bit feverish. Ef only yew'd take this here tansy tea."

Abraham would give one exasperated glance at the tin cup and mutter into the depths of his beard:

"Tansy tea an' old women! Old women an' tansy tea! Tansy tea be damned!"

Abe failed perceptibly during the summer, grew feebler as the autumn winds blew in, and by November he took to his bed and the physician of the home, a little whiffet of a pompous idiot, was called to attend him. The doctor, determined at the start to make a severe case of the old man's affliction in order that he might have the greater glory in the end, he it good or bad, looked very grave over Abraham's tongue and pulse, prescribed medicine for every half hour, and laid especial stress upon the necessity of keeping the patient in bed.

"Humbug!" growled the secretly terrified invalid, and in an excess of bravado took his black-silk necktie from where it hung on the bedpost and tied it in a bow-knot around the collar of his pink-striped nightshirt, so that he would be in proper shape to receive any of the sisters. Then he lay very still, his eyes closed, as they came tiptoeing in and out. Their tongues were so gentle tiptoe too, although not so gentle but that he could hear them advising: One, a "good, stiff mustard plaster," one, an "onion poultice," another, a "Spanish blister," while Aunt Nancy stopped short of nothing less than "old-fashioned bleeding." Abe lay very still and wondered if they meant to kill him. He was probably going to die anyhow, so why torment him. Only when he was dead, he hoped that they would think more kindly of him. And so surrounded yet alone, the old man fought his secret terror until mercifully he went to sleep.

When he awoke there were the sisters again; and day after day they spent their combined efforts in keeping him on his back and forcing him to take his medicine, the only appreciable good resulting therefrom being the fact that with his tax upon their devotion the old ladies came once more to regard Abe as the most precious possession of the home.

"What ef he should die?" they whispered among themselves, repentant enough of their late condemnation of him and already desolate at the thought of his leaving this little haven with them for the "great haven" over there; and the whisper reaching the sickroom, Abe's fever would rise, while he could never lift his lashes except to see the specter of helpless old age on one side of the bed and death upon the other.

"What's the matter with me?" he demanded of the doctor, as one who would say: "Pooh! pooh! You're a humbug! What do you mean by keepin' me in bed?" Yet the old man was trembling with that inner fear. The physician, a feminine kind of a bearded creature himself, took Abe's hand in his—an engaging trick he had with the old ladies.

"Now, my friend, do not distress yourself. Of course, you are a very sick man; I cannot deceive you as to that; but during my professional career, I have seen some remarkable cases of recovery and—"

"But what's the matter with me?" broke in Abe, by this time fairly white with fear. The doctor had assured him that all his organs were sound, so he could only conclude that he must have one of those unusual diseases such as Miss Abigail was reading about in the paper yesterday. Maybe, although his legs were so thin today, he was on the verge of an attack of elephantiasis!

"What's the matter with me?" he repeated, his eyes growing wilder and wilder.

What the doctor really replied would be difficult to tell; but out of the confusion of his technicalities Abe caught the words, "nerves" and "hysteria."

"Mother, yew hear that?" he cried. "I got nervous hysterics. I told yer somethin' would happen ter me a-comin' in to this here place. All them old women's diseases is ketchin'. Why on 'arth didn't yer let me go to the poor-house?"

He fell back on the pillow and drew the bedclothes up to his ears, while Angy followed the doctor out into the hall to receive, as Abe supposed, a more detailed description of his malady. He felt too weak, however, to question Angy when she returned, and stubbornly kept his eyes closed until he heard Mrs. Homan tiptoe into the room to announce in hushed tones that Blossy and Samuel Darby were below, and Samuel wanted to know if he might see the invalid.

Then Abe threw off the covers in a hurry and sat up. "Sm! Darby?" he asked, the strength coming back into his voice. "A man! Nary a woman nary a doctor! Yes—yes, show him up!"

Angy nodded in response to Mrs. Homan's glance of inquiry; for had not the doctor told her that it would not hasten the end to humor the patient in any reasonable whim? And she also consented to withdraw when Abe informed her that he wished to be left alone with his visitor, as it was so long since he had been face to face with a man "an' no petticoat a-hangin' round the corner."

"Naow, be keerrul, Cap'n Darby," the little mother-in-law cautioned at the door, "be very keerrul. Don't stay too long an' don't rile him up, fer he's dreftul excited, Abe is."

Dinner Stories
Food Controller Hoover told at a meatless-wheatless banquet a story about a poultry profiteer. "A lady entered his shop," said Mr. Hoover, "and asked the price of chicken. 'Them birds in the window' said the profiteer. 'Wall, they're very fine quality stock. I can't let 'em go for less than 94 cents a pound. Indeed!' said the lady, 'did you raise them yourself?' 'Yep,' said the profiteer absently. 'They were 70 cents yesterday.'"

A traveler tells of a trip on a jaunting car in Ireland, where he had as a fellow passenger an ugly-looking man, whom he was not sorry to leave behind at an inn. "That was a queer-looking fellow," Pat remarked to the waggish driver as he proceeded on his way. "Fifth, yer honor, he's as queer as he looks. He's a villain. He's done fifteen years for laving his wife without visible means of support."

"Oh, get out, Pat! A man can't get fifteen years' penal servitude for laving his wife without visible means of support."

"Shure, and can't he, sir?" said Pat with a twinkle in his roguish eyes. "He did, though. An' he did it by laving his wife without visible means of support when ye throw her out of a window on the third floor?"

Lieutenant—Please, sir, the enemy are as thick as peas. What shall I do?
Commanding Officer—Shell 'em you idiot; shell 'em!

Careless Use of Soap Spoils the Hair
Soap should be used very carefully, if you want to keep your hair looking its best. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is just ordinary mulford coconut oil (which is pure and greaseless), and is better than the most expensive soap or anything else you can use.

One or two teaspoonfuls will cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get mulford coconut oil at any pharmacy, it's very cheap, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months.

Catarrh is a Real Enemy and Requires Vigorous Treatment
Do Not Neglect It.
When you use medicated sprays, atomizers and douches for your Catarrh, you may succeed in unstoping the choked-up air passages for the time being, but this annoying condition returns, and you have to do the same thing over and over again.

Catarrh has never yet been cured by these local applications. Have you ever experienced any real benefit from such treatment?

Throw these makeshift remedies to the winds, and get on the right treatment. Go to your drug store to-day, get a bottle of S. S. S., and commence a treatment that has been praised by sufferers for nearly half a century.

S. S. S. gets right at the source of Catarrh, and forces from the blood the germs which cause the disease. You can obtain special medical advice regarding your own case with charge by writing to Medical Director, 22 Swift Laboratory, Atlanta, Ga.

The sale of the roulette went for $100. Main street was another success and brought $400. That was hard work and the women did wonderfully well to serve so many. Washing Won't Rid Head Of Dandruff
The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

Do this tonight, and by morning, most if not all of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop at once, and your hair will be fluffy, lustreous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and never fails to do the work.

HOME MISSIONARY CONVENTION IS HELD

District Convention Meeting at Cargill Methodist Church—Miss Swartz Gives Address.

"Americanization of our future citizens, both at home and abroad," was the topic taken by Miss C. K. Swartz in her address last evening before the Women's Home Missionary convention in the Methodist church. And the primary work of the Women's Home Missionary society, she said, was training the future motherhood of the nation in the patriotic spirit. She emphasized the fact that of the many native races in America most of them were pagan. These she defined as being Indians, 400,000 of whom the number is increasing. The Spanish-Americans, of which there are 800,000. The negroes, of whom there are millions. And the mountaineers of the South, living in the most backward and decadent of the early settlers from Europe.

Besides these peoples, there are many Chinese, Japanese and Koreans in the larger cities who do not have the gospel. The industrial schools maintained by the Women's Home Missionary society, she said, were the greatest element in combating ignorance and training young people of these races in their duties and privileges as future citizens of the nation.

She also dwelt particularly on the Americanization of the emigrant, and the fact that it only took the right kind of treatment to make of them the best citizens of our land. Miss Swartz was stationed for a time as missionary at Ellis Island, and her experiences at that time, and later when she was working in a big foreign city, gave her an insight into many of the problems which the emigrant has to contend with. Many touching incidents of these people were told by Miss Swartz to show the fact that it is the lure of the home and the lure of land that draws them to this country.

"But," said Miss Swartz, "in bringing together the different peoples of the earth, we must have human agencies to take care of them, and give them instructions as to their duties in the matter."

Miss Swartz also entered into the details of some of the specific work done by the Home Missionary societies, in connection with the cantonments. Workers are kept on the outskirts of many of the camps, to take care of the girls who come to visit the camp, to serve as travelers' aids in stations, and to maintain recreation centers within the camps. Miss Swartz has been stationed for a time at Camp Merritt, which is where the boys stay while waiting to go to France. And she told of the comfort given some of the lonely boys by the motherly councils of the women in charge. Also the fact was mentioned that the missionary worker who has been stationed at Ellis Island for more than twenty years, is the only person allowed to come and go to the hospital where are brought the wounded from France. She closed with a plea for more co-operation of time and money in this vital work for the nation.

The little playlet, "Packing the Missionary Barrel," was given by the local auxiliary, to the great enjoyment of the audience, and Mrs. J. E. Lane led in the devotional exercises. Her topic was the motto of the society:

"America for Christ."

On yesterday afternoon, besides the address of welcome and response, the president's greeting was given by Miss Abbie Norton of Whitewater, giving a brief resume of work accomplished in the last year, and outlining plans for the future.

Miss Williamena Rosenick of Milwaukee gave a talk along the line of the Polish people and a plea for more missions among them.

"The Patriotic Service of Women" was outlined by Mrs. L. C. Brown of Beloit, as consisting of Red Cross work, conservation of food as desired by the food administration, and broader lines in constructive work in the church societies.

Mrs. J. R. Nichols then sang a solo, which was greatly appreciated. The meetings opened this morning at 9:30 o'clock, and reports of district officers, and societies, and election of officers for the ensuing year will be by the order of the day's business. A supper was served last evening at the church by one of the groups of the "Standard-Bearers," and dinner was also served at noon today. Many of the church members improved the opportunity and took their meals with the visiting delegates.

BIG LEAGUE SCOUTS

COMB COLLEGE TEAMS

IN SEARCH FOR MEN

(BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS)

New York, May 24.—College baseball players of class have the chance of a lifetime now to make something of their ability.

Big league scouts, slipping from the usual practice of paying attention to the college phenoms, are taking the other track now and are visiting the colleges first. The Athletics, the Senators, the Cardinals, the Indians, the Tigers, and the Pirates already have put emissaries into the field to look things over.

As a result of these early investigations of promising big league material one fine looking prospect already is about to be signed by the Cleveland club. He is Capt. K. J. June, captain of the West Virginia team, and he is a star hurler. June is recommended highly by no less a person than Charlie Hickman, former big league and now mayor of Morgantown, the city where the West Virginia school is located.

June has been the leading hurler of the Mountaineer team for the last three years. In his first year at the university he won ten games and lost one for his school. Last year he was given the backing of one of the powerhouses in the history of the school, yet he won a majority of games in which he participated.

This year June has started on a gleaming path. Already he has vanquished Army and Syracuse, in addition to other strong teams.

Cleveland has the call on his services, according to word from Morgantown, but other clubs are after him. If he decides to sign he will go to some club immediately after the close of the season at the university.

Other schools are being combed just as diligently. And the young fellows will get more attention this summer than has been the custom. The lack of big league material in the minors together with the loss of man players by the majors, will make every big league manager thing long and hard before deciding to give up any kind of a ball player.

OLDIRING ONLY VETERAN ON ATHLETIC'S ROSTER

(BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS)

New York, May 24.—Rube Oldiring, persuaded to come out of retirement by Connie Mack, this season is the only player on the Mackian roster who was actively engaged in the pennant-winning campaign of 1914, when the Athletics won their last American league streamer.

Gone are the stars of the old White Elephant machine which rolled through the American League, winning four pennants in a stretch of five years, and in their place are players upon whom Mack is depending to regain the laurels of his once famous club.

The once famous infield of the old Mackmen, composed of Baker, Barry, Collins and McInnis, has been replaced by Burns, Gardner, Shannon and Dugan. Baker is with the Yankees, Collins with the White Sox, McInnis with Boston and Barry in the navy.

The old Athletic outfield has been away completely. Strunk has been sent to the Red Sox and Oldiring has been used as a pinch hitter for the most part since coming back to the club, while Murphy has passed out of the limelight, as have Davis, Walsh and Daley.

Bender, Bush, Coombs, Plank, Penneck, Shawkey, Wyckoff and Brossier were the mainstays of Mack's pitching staff only four years ago, yet not one of them is wearing a Philadelphia uniform. Bender is helping Uncle Sam build ships at Her Island. Bush is with the Red Sox.

Coombs with Brooklyn, Brossier with the Reds, Plank retired and Penneck, Shawkey and Wyckoff in the service.

Lapp, Schang and Thomas, catchers, have also passed along. Schang being the only one still classed as a star.

McAvoy, who was with the club in 1914, was a fourth string catcher at that time and is now doing half the backstopping for the rejuvenated club.

Garnier, Walker and Cadv, from Boston; Jamison, from Washington; Burns, from Detroit, and Gregg and Kopp, from the International League, have stepped into the shoes left vacant by Mack's many deals within two years. In short, in short, the Athletics are perfectly camouflaged.

RITCHIE MITCHELL TO BATTLE JOE WELLING

(BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS)

Milwaukee, May 24.—Ritchie Mitchell and Joe Welling will battle here tonight for the benefit of war funds. A large percentage of the receipts are to go to the use of the sailors and Marines in service. In addition to the star lightweights, Tom Andrews has matched a couple Jackies from the Great Lakes Naval Training station. Another Jackie will take on a local ring star. The card has attracted much attention and it will be the first show in the newly decorated auditorium.

K. O. Circus, the Pittsburgh featherweight, today is lying in a Pittsburgh hospital, suffering from a bullet wound he received from his friend, Whitner Anderson, who was according to reports, Anderson picked up the revolver and pointed it at Circus and pulled the trigger. Anderson said he did it as a joke and didn't know the gun was loaded. Circus was considered a corner in the ranks of the 122-pounders and was a boy with a very stout punch.

Reports that Johnny Kilbane, featherweight champion, had been appointed head boxing instructor are not true according to Dr. E. Raycroft, chief physician of athletic club at Washington. Here is a telegram Dr. Raycroft sent to Benny Leonard, lightweight champion, and many other instructors in the army camps: "You go along in the way you have been going."

Kilbane has been devoting most of his time to the training of the military contingent, which is near his home in Cleveland.

This has been an unfortunate year for Kid Williams and Johnny Ertle, former bantam champions, as both of them have been knocked out in quick time. Williams was stopped in two rounds by Joe Lynch at Philadelphia and Ertle was put to sleep in the third round by Dick Landman at Milwaukee. Williams and Ertle are just about through as top-notchers.

Spray Fruit Trees Now Before Calyx Cups Close.

For six trees of ordinary size use the following: 1 gallon of water, 1 cup of lime sulphur, 8 teaspoons of lead arsenate. To this may also be added 3 teaspoons of black forty for aphids, but this is not so important as the lime sulphur and lead arsenate.

Watch for the Currant Worm on Currant and Gooseberry Bushes.

Look on the underside of the bushes and if you see larvae that are being eaten, apply arsenate of lead at once. This is very important as the little pests work rapidly and will strip a bush in a day or two. The proper way on is the same as given above and the same spray may be used. The arsenate is the only thing in it that affects the worms, but the lime sulphur and black forty are useful for fungi and aphids, which may affect the currants also.

If Cut Worms Are Taking Your Garden Stuff Hit Them With This.

Polson Bran Mash—A mixture of paris green or arsenate of lead, bran, syrup or cheap molasses, is a satisfactory control for cut worms, including the army worm. A single broad application in the late evening of polson bran mash is generally sufficient for effective control of the pests.

Bran, 1 quart; arsenate of lead or paris green, 1 teaspoon; molasses, 1 teaspoon; water, just enough to thoroughly moisten. Scatter it about on the ground about the plants to be protected, but be sure to shut up your chickens before you put out such a dose.
